Native Americans harvested this rich estuary, camping on Casco Bay islands to hunt, fish, and dig clams. Inhabitants fashioned harpoon points, fish hooks, and shell beads found on Casco Bay islands help trace ancient peoples’ late winter, spring, and summer camps. While evidence of ancestral Wabanaki (People of the Dawn) dates back 2000 years, other artifacts reach back over 4000 years. Prehistoric spear and harpoon points, fish bones, and shell heaps found on Casco Bay islands to hunt, fish, and dig clams...